

Dear CSEA members,

We are month into a new decade and staring down February, the longest month of the school year. It's the time of year where kids and educators alike are pushing through to warmer weather, outdoor activities, and the allure of spring. CEA's COpilot offerings are an opportunity for you to learn something new and try out some innovative strategies in your classrooms and workplaces.

To that end, CEA has a number of COpilot classes starting on January 27 that will definitely make professional development worth your while. Some of them even fulfill the English Learner Professional Development license requirement*. Don't wait to sign up for these classes as they're filling up quickly!

You can learn more about the upcoming class offerings by clicking on the links below.:

Thriving Educators: Daily Activities to Cultivate Your Emotional Resilience

Strategies that Engage: Moving Beyond the Stereotypes of Poverty*

The Formative Five: Fostering Student Success Skills

Teaching English Language Learners Across the Content Areas*

Introduction to Restorative Practices in Education*

Understanding Accommodations and Modifications

You can sign up now at https://ceacopilot.org!