Read Joe Schott's Interview In The Gazette

On April 5, The Gazette published an article on how teachers and schools throughout the community are preparing to teach remotely. CSEA President Joe Schott is quoted several times in the article, which is available here. Here's one of his quotes:

"Instead of going on quantity, the general idea is come up with ways to enrich and deepen learning, with student choice mixed in, so the learning is student-driven," Schott said.

Members Stepped Up

Over spring break, a large number of CSEA members joined with administrators in developing remote-learning approaches. On these leveled Distance Learning Teams they worked on behalf of their colleagues and students in our District. A big thank you to these members!
