Dear Members,

Does it feel like a real year yet? Now we get our opportunity to step back for a moment and catch up with ourselves. Leaves swirl on the ground while brilliant sunshine streams through barren branches. Fall festivals throughout history have celebrated the moment of poise between the bounty of harvest and working through demanding months ahead—and here we are. Surely the challenge is before us in a number of ways, and just as surely we know we will return from a week of Thanksgiving set to meet our challenges with energy and resolve, as professionals do, with integrity and a sense of reasonable limits for the demands put upon us.

We sincerely hope you find your beautiful, warm place to enjoy some relaxation as a dividend of the honest and fruitful work you do every day.

In Solidarity,
CSEA
